About

In The Highwayman, Matt Basile takes on the songbooks of Johnny Cash, Kris Kristofferson, Willie Nelson and Waylon Jennings, the four artists behind one of country music's famous collaborations. Rather than impersonate them, he and a band of New York session and touring players focus on the songs themselves, moving between hard-driving outlaw numbers and quieter ballads. The concert is aimed at country audiences who know the era and want its music played with care.
